SCM Urges IUS Contact

London, Ont., (CUP) — Closer association between NFCUS and the International Union of Students was recommended by the Student Christian Movement of Canada, at their national conference held at the University of Western Ontario.

COMMUNIST DOMINATION

The IUS was formed a year after the end of the war, with the aim of unifying the students of the world for action and discussion. Since that time, it has become increasingly dominated by the ideas of Communism and by the nations from behind the iron curtain. For this reason, the Western nations, feeling that the organization was being used for political propaganda, refused to join, or have dropped out. Canada has never been a member, but has usually sent observers to the IUS conferences.

Until recently, it has only been possible to join as a full member, although non-members could and did send observers. The Associate Membership is something new, and permits members in that category to disassociate themselves with any specific action or resolution of the IUS.

SCM OBSERVERS

The decision of the SCM national conference resulted from the report sent back by three SCM observers at an IUS conference this year. They were Bill Wilmet, Sheila McDonough, and Charles Taylor. All were from McGill with the exception of Taylor.

A Commentary SEC Sidelights

By John Fraser

Perhaps the most interesting topic brought up at Friday's meeting — at least to a reporter — was that of relations between the Council and the press.

The subject was brought up in connection with the meal allowances which were granted to senior Students' Society officers at the meeting. Bob Paulette voiced the opinion, and many others of the council seemed to agree with him, that this fact, together with similar Council actions should be made fully public.

Jim Robb commented that there had never been any attempt to hide such facts, and there was then a general discussion as to how much and what The Daily should report about Council meetings. This will be discussed in detail later.

It is not fair to say too much about the meeting. It was admittedly a "caretaker" meeting — designed not to discuss policy, but to go through formalities and take care of technicalities — which it did quite competently. There was a quorum present, but that was all, so that it is not surprising that any issue of any importance or involving any controversy was hastily deferred until the next meeting.

Unexpected Profits Announced At First SEC Meeting Friday

By JOHN FRASER

Collectively if not individually, McGill students are still in the black. A profit of $7,808 on Students' Society operations for last year was announced by Mr. Ralph Shackell — Secretary Treasurer — at the first meeting of the Students' Executive Council last Friday.

This profit gives the Students' Society a total unrestricted surplus as of June 30 1953 of $31,293. In addition to this, there is a restricted surplus of $10,000 reserved for emergencies by a motion of the Council in 1951.

Mr. Shackell pointed out that year's profit came within 25 dollars of that budgeted. There was, however, a real gain over expectations. In a motion passed last May, the SEC was able to transfer $3,000 to the McGill Union reserve account for maintenance and minor repairs in the Union. This money had not been provided for in the original budget.

The unexpected profit was attributed mainly to an increase over the sum budgeted for Student Society Fees, greater profits than budgeted from the Grill-room and Cafeteria, and the fact that SCOPE spent less than anticipated. There were also other factors involved.

NFCUS

At the same meeting, Council members heard Brian Goodwin, President of the NFCUS Committee here outline plans for the

McGill Scientists Design New Air Defense System

A new plan, designed by a group of McGill scientists under the direction of Prof. Garnet A. Wootton, may form a major part in North America's continental protection against invading air forces.

The system, known as the McGill Fence, would replace the Lincoln Line, proposed by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. However, there was little likelihood of this plan being fully completed as early this week Canadian and American observers began to find flaws in the Arctic line.

The new system has been planning at the Eaton Electronics Laboratory for some time, and was kept under strict security by the Canadian government. The plan will be submitted in October to a joint meeting of the Canadian-United States defence boards.

At present across the northland, above the population belt of Canada, Canadians and Americans are manning look-out stations for which Canada pays one-third the cost and the United States the remaining portion.

It is reported from Washington that the United States National Security Council, senior strategy-policy body of the US, believes it imperative that continental defences be strengthened.

Book Business Booming In RVC Basement Store

A book exchange sponsored by the Women's Union for the coed population of McGill, and located in the basement of the Royal Victoria College, sold $110 worth of second-hand books in the first week of its operation this session. It was announced yesterday afternoon by Pauline Mowatt, president of the Women's Union.

The exchange, begun last year to help students find second-hand textbooks and to dispose of those no longer needed, is located near the Women's Union office in the basement of RVC. Interested students should descend the stairs to the right of the Women's Union office, and the book exchange room will be directly in front of them at the end of the corridor. Signs have been posted to assist in finding the right room.

When a coed brings books to be sold, she fills out an envelope with her name, the title of the book and the price she is asking. This envelope is kept inside the book until it is sold. On the sale of the book, the money is placed in the envelope and filed in the Women's Union office until such time as the owner calls for it. She is notified by letter that her book or books have been sold, and that the money is waiting for her. The Women's Union deducts a ten per cent service charge from each sale obtained.

The book exchange is open from 11 to three p.m. each week day, and will continue until the end of October.

The Women's Union office will be open for inquiries, etc., from 12 to two p.m. every week day during the year. Women's Union handbooks may be obtained there at these times, as may McGill blazers when a receipt from the SEC office is presented.

Professionals and Amateurs Entertain at Union Open House

MICHAEL SHAUGHNESSY — who will be the star performer in tonight's Union Open House. He is currently appearing at the Downbeat Café.

Michael Shaughnessy At Union Tonight

The annual Union Open House is to be held tonight at 8:30 pm in the Union ballroom. Filling the shoes of Rudy Valley, who was last year's top attraction and performer, will be the highly celebrated Mickey Shaughnessy, currently playing at the Downbeat Club.

Al Palmer, who reviewed Shaughnessy in yesterday's Herald, said, "There has never been a performer quite like Mickey Shaughnessy to play this Peel street funhouse before. In fact, we doubt there has ever been a performer quite like this big Harp before. He breaks all the standard rules of the house and still tops the list of favorites at the spot."

"It has long been known by all and sundry that dramatic bits are out as far as the Downbeat is concerned. The taxpayers prefer their shows fast and loud with a heavy accent on comedy. Shaughnessy broke that rule too by doing a very dramatic Danny Boy script—under a green spotlight— which even kept the bar customers quiet."

"If you are on the shady side of 35 you will get an extra kick of Shaughnessy's act. Do you remember 'one-two-three-alley'?' 'candy buttons on a strip of white paper?' 'Jacks?' 'one cent candy?' The Irishman's act brings them all back with a very funny skit about our early teens."

"The Harp's a great guy. He has a face like a map of Killarney, so it's only natural he'd do a few Irish songs. He also does Western bits to a humorous version of 'My Blue Heaven'—with a Brooklyn accent yet. It is doubtful if he'll be around the cabaret circuit for sometime after this engagement. His successful portrayal of the sergeant in the film 'From Here To Eternity' earned him further roles."

From the above quoted from the Herald it seems sure that Shaughnessy will help keep the 600 or so fellows happy at the first smoker of the year.

Other entertainment at the Open House will include various amateur performers, many of which are McGill students. Marvin Gomeroff will act as MC of the show and those taking part in it will include the Calypso Dancers featured in last year's Carnival Revue, and Nicky McArdle of the cast of the '53 Red and White Revue. Lole Schwelt will be soloist with the calypso dancers.

In the dance department Howie "Rubber Legs" Bell and partner will perform various fancy jitterbug routines and Kathy Alexakis and Cecil Palmer will do a Charleston exhibition.

Those who are interested in playing for the McGill Redmen Band can obtain the necessary information by calling Robert G. Balderson, Personnel Director, at BE. 0752.

Union Installs TV For Series

Union President John Jones announced last night that a television set with 20 inch screen has been rented for the World Series.

It will be placed, starting today, in a corner of the grill room, where all series games may be reviewed. The set will be probably be on hand for most of the month.

First game of the 1953 World Series between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers starts at 12.45 this afternoon on channel 2.

Bandsmen Needed To Blow Horns

Bandsmen are urgently needed in all instrumental divisions of the band, to fill vacancies left last spring by graduating members. When completed it is hoped the band will consist of fifty men; at present only thirty-five of these positions are filled.

Trombone, clarinet, baritone horn, and sousaphone players are the most required. The band will provide the larger instruments, such as the baritone horn.

Membership with the band will provide free seats in a reserved section of the bleachers at all football games at home and away, expense-free trips to all games in other cities, and admission to the Winter Carnival and Athletics Nights.

Those who are interested in playing for the McGill Redmen Band can obtain the necessary information by calling Robert G. Balderson, Personnel Director, at BE. 0752.

More Permits Issued For Student Parking

This year ninety-nine students will be able to drive their cars to school and park them in the University parking lots. These lots are, specifically, the fenced-in section beside the Architecture Center, known as the "well", and the Physical — Science Building, known as the "well". The latter of the two lots was formerly for staff cars only, but this year part of the space has been turned over to the students.

Parking permits must be possessed by students who use these parking lots. Forms for these permits will be available until October seventh, and may be obtained in the Union at the students' society office. So far there has been a big rush for permits, and students who must bring their cars to school are advised to fill out the necessary form as soon as possible.

Sales May Increase With Book Rebates

One effect of the new rebate system which is being tried out for the first time this year, seems to be an increase in sales. Since the first students registered this year — in Medicine — the sales of textbooks for those faculties is slightly above last year's.

The system, devised by a committee of the SEC headed by Bob Paulette and Pauline Mowatt, is on a two year trial. It may, however, be cut short after one year, if the SEC feels that it has not been successful.

All students were given out envelopes at Registration in which to keep sales slips. It is the total amount on these slips that will determine how much of a rebate and individual will get. If bookstore profits are 4% of total sales, each student will get back

Over 2000 Physiologists Attend Scientific Congress

By DICK PURSER

McGill played host to 2200 scientists, including six Nobel Prize Winners, from 48 countries at the 19th International Physiological Congress held here from August 31 to September 4. 950 papers were presented, representing scientific research projects completed since the last congress, held three years ago.

MULTI-TONGUED WELCOME

Delegates, after registering under awnings conveniently set up outside the high school, were welcomed at the opening plenary session on August 31 by Dr. Charles H. Best, president of the congress and internationally known as co-discoverer of insulin. Dr.

Best's address was given in six languages — English, French, Spanish, German, and for variety, Gaelic and Mohawk — the latter for local colour and the former in honour of Dr. C. F. Macintosh, chairman of the McGill Department of Physiology and of the congress' organizing committee.

He said that the scientists' research was "certain to contribute more and more to the true welfare of people everywhere." Dr. G.D.W. Cameron, Federal Deputy Minister of Health, suggested that medical science take a close look at itself. He said that though "the struggle through history has been to lengthen life," perhaps the emphasis might better be on improving life.

PROPOSES WELCOME

Dr. E.D. Adrian, president of Britain's Royal Society, Master of Trinity College, Cambridge, and president of the congress' permanent committee, proposed the formation of an official international union of all physiologists which would be a member of the International Council of Scientific Unions, affiliated with UNESCO. Preliminaries were followed by a four day welter of symposia and communications, scientific films, meetings, receptions, permanent and special demonstrations by McGill scientists and commercial firms.

Armed with a 976 page book containing brief abstracts of all papers, delegates could choose from the many being presented at the same time in different parts of the two universities. All languages were regarded as official, but the committee emphasized that those delivering their papers in English, French or German were most likely to be understood.

COMPLEX TOPICS

It is perhaps not given to laymen to understand such topics as "Electrophysiological Investigations on Afferent Fibres from the Carotid Sinus Region." "The

Testing Student Co-operation

This year The Daily is attempting to run a poll of student opinion. For this purpose a questionnaire was designed and handed out at registration. The questions pertain to anything from opinions on students affairs to general knowledge of world events. We are interested to know what students think about various topics, or more generally, if they think at all. The answers should give us some basis for policy on articles and editorials.

However, some students seem to regard such efforts as a subject of mirth, to be considered with the same flippancy as a burlesque revue. We hope that these students are a minority.

The success of this poll depends exclusively on the cooperation and interest of the student body. It also depends on the honesty of the students filling out the questionnaire. We have tried to appeal to the sense of honour we think exists among McGill students. We are ready to believe that truth will be important enough to our readers so that they would rather leave a question blank than consult a friend or look up the answer in a magazine. Also we are ready to believe that for the sake of truth and accuracy students will remember to return the forms that were given to them after they finished registration. Perhaps (and we hope this is not the case) we are naive in our beliefs. The number of returns should settle this point.

We are guilty though, of lack of organization. Unfortunately not every student received a questionnaire. This situation, by the very nature of the registration process, was unavoidable. However, for those ready to help us with the poll there will be forms available at The Daily offices and at the Tuck Shop in the Union.

We await the result of our efforts with great anticipation.

SEC Coverage

As in the past, The Daily will continue covering all meetings of the Students' Executive Council. This year, however, we hope to make our coverage more candid and more extensive than has been our policy in the past.

In our front page commentaries on these meetings, we will try to give our impressions of what happened, to fill out the regular news story's recitation of decisions taken and reasons given. We will try to give a picture of what was achieved or not achieved, and who was responsible.

This is not a threat to the SEC. We are not "out to get" the Council, or any of its members. We do feel, however, that the students have a right to know more about what goes on in these meetings. If there is one member who has put up a conscientious, competent, but losing battle on behalf of his faculty, the students he represents have the right to know about it. It is in the interests of such a member himself, that his electors should be aware of what he is doing for them.

On the other hand, if there is a member who contributes little, this fact should also be known — particularly if he should later run for higher office. It would be a refreshing change in our elections if we had some source of the candidate's record other than his own opinions and those of his supporters.

We hope, then, to bring you the news of what your Council decides, but also of who agreed, who disagreed and why, and our impressions as to who contributes during the Council meetings, who performs less spectacular but equally valuable behind-the-scenes work, and who contributes none of these.

The Best Years...

Freshmen and newcomers to McGill will soon be confronted with many new issues, ideas, terms and abbreviations. Gradually this terminology will be assimilated and some sort of opinion will develop. Some of these new terms will concern McGill activities — both curricular and extra-curricular, others will refer to nation wide organizations.

It is important that new students be aware of some of these organizations so that they will be able to avail themselves of the services offered and plan their stay at McGill accordingly.

One of these organizations is WUSC, which stands for World University Service of Canada, part of a world-wide organization that concerns itself with the problems of students all over the world and the international situations that confront them. Each year a seminar is held and students attend by virtue of a scholarship based on good scholastic standing as well as prominence and ability displayed within the Students' Society.

This summer the seminar was held in India, and three McGill students were able to avail themselves of the scholarships offered. On their return they will participate their experience to the student body both directly and through articles in The Daily.

There is NCFUS, or National Federation of Canadian University Students, which is a national representative body of students from most of the universities and colleges in Canada. Each year NCFUS holds a conference at which the various problems confronting student organizations are discussed. This year the conference will be held at McGill and should provide students of our university with an excellent opportunity to meet students from all over Canada.

NFCUS sponsors a series of Exchange Scholarships, available to students who have two or more years of study and with the necessary academic qualifications. This enables any student to spend a year at a different university and gather a wider range of collegiate experience. Freshmen generally are not aware of these scholarships, and find out about them too late to take advantage of them.

Within the framework of the Students' Society itself there are many clubs and societies which will give interested students a field where they can put into practice the ideas assimilated at lectures. Political clubs, technical societies, 'hobby' groups, religious organizations, publications, language clubs, and many others are all ready to give the student a chance to widen his scope of thought.

There is a wealth of experience to be had for students who are willing to put a bit of effort and thought into their university. A wise combination of curricular subjects properly assimilated and extra-curricular activities carefully chosen should make the coming year truly the 'best years of your life.'

What Is A College Boy

(Apologies to Jan Peerce)

FROM THE QUEEN'S JOURNAL

Between the senility of second childhood and the light-hearted lechery of the teens we find a loathsome creature called a college boy. College boys come in assorted sizes, weights, and states of sobriety, but all college boys have the same creed: To do nothing every second of every day and to protest with whining noises (their only weapon) when their last minute of inertia is finished and the adult males pack them off to the Employment Office or the Draft Board.

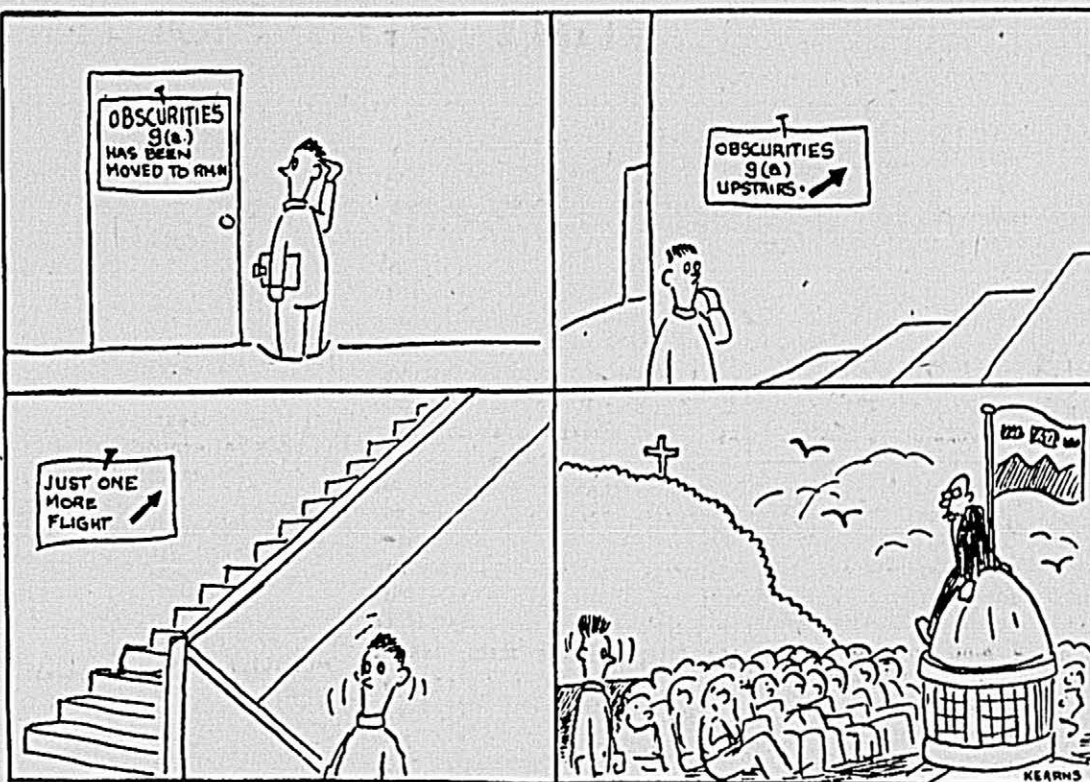

College boys are found everywhere—breaking train windows, tearing down goal posts, inciting riots or jumping bail. Mothers love them, big girls love them, middle-sized girls love them, and Satan protects them. A college boy is Laziness with peach fuzz on its face. Idiocy with lanolin in its hair and the Hope of the Future with an overdrawn bank book in its pocket.

A college boy is a composite — he has the energy of a Rip Van Winkle, the shyness of a Mr. Micawber, the practicality of a Don Quixote, the kindness of a Marquis de Sade, the imagination of a Bill Sykes, the appetite of a Gargantua, the aspirations of a Casanova, and when he wants some thing it's usually money.

He likes a good liquor, bad liquor, called classes, double features, Plaxtex ads, girls and football weekends. He is not much for hopeful mothers, irate fathers, sharp-eyed ushers, Alma-Mater Society constables, alarm clocks or letters from the Dean.

Nobody is so late to rise or so early to supper. Nobody else gets so much fun out of girls, snooker, or Bright's Catawba. Nobody else can cram into one pocket a slide rule, a Marilyn Monroe calendar, Kant's "Critique of Pure Reason," a collapsible pool-cue, an expired liquor licence, a Hawaiian ukelele, 39 cents in Italian lire, a Muggsy Spaniel record and a YMCA towel.

A college boy is a magical creature—you can lock him out of your heart but you can't lock him out of your liquor cabinet. You can get him off your mind but you can't get him off your expense account. Might as well give up: he is your jailer, your boss, and your albatross — a bleary-eyed, no-account girl-chasing bundle of worry. But when you come home at night with only the shattered pieces of your hopes and dreams, he can make them mighty insignificant with four magic words: "I flunked out, Dad."

Contributors Wanted

The articles in these columns and occasionally those on page four are denoted as Features. They will include all types of creative writing, philosophical essays, personal observations, reviews of such of the major arts as may interest students, and other articles that are obviously not fitted for the news or sports pages.

The Features Staff consists of all students on the campus who wish to contribute or write for this department. The editors and administrative staff extend an invitation to all students to contribute by either dropping down to the offices to see the Features editors about an assignment, stories, cartoons and interviews, or to contribute a poem, story or essay that many students by their very nature have written down and wished to see in print.

While it cannot be assured that all articles submitted will be printed, nevertheless a sincere effort will be made to consider and examine thoroughly all such articles. Obviously, there would be little value in having editors if they did not do some editing.

An attempt will be made, as the year progresses, to have students contribute articles on controversial subjects in an effort to sound out student opinion. There are many topics which are of particular concern to students alone and occasionally the aim will be to mirror by means of this page as many views as possible on these topics.

There exists therefore ample opportunity, either in the editorial columns or the features columns, to get your views and ideas into print and before fellow students.

We are waiting!

Features Meeting

There will be a meeting of all Features Staff, both old and new, on Friday, October 2, at one p.m., in the Daily Features office in the basement of the Union. Plans for the coming year, assignments, etc., will be discussed. Attendance by night editors and desk editors is particularly requested.

Cleary Named To Coach Soccermen

McGill's senior soccermen will have a new coach this year in the person of Brian Cleary. Cleary succeeds Bob Wilkinson who resigned from the physical education department after a successful stint as mastermind of the soccer squad.

Thank You Note

(Ed. note — Bob MacLellan, one of McGill's outstanding athletes in recent years, was the winner of the Stuart Forbes trophy last year, the highest award an athlete can win. He is presently continuing his studies in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Ottawa, and although he will not take part actively in any sports, he will very likely help with the coaching at Ottawa.)

This is the first opportunity I have had to thank the students and faculty at McGill for awarding me the highly-prized Stuart Forbes Trophy. Amidst all the excitement and hubbub at the time of the presentation, there was no chance to properly express my thanks and gratitude.

It was of course, a wonderful experience, and I hope I will always live up to the ideals for which the trophy was presented.

It has been a pleasure playing for the McGill coaches, and I doubt if a better staff can be found anywhere. To me, they are tops.

In addition, I would like to extend my thanks to all those who aided me and were so wonderful during my stay at school. — Bob MacLellan

Cleary came over from England about eighteen months ago, and is at present teaching with the Protestant School Board. He graduated from Loughborough College, a division of Nottingham University, with a physical education degree.

Cleary Qualified

While in England, Cleary played pro soccer in the Southern League and is therefore well qualified to guide the fortunes of the soccermen. His job is well cut out, however, as the team is out to retain the championship they shared with Toronto last year. Actually, the soccer Redmen have held a monopoly on the Intercollegiate soccer crown but last year, ended in a tie with the Varsity Blues.

This year the squad will be out to capture sole possession of first place. Two's a crowd in this league, especially in the top slot.

Undecided

Cleary has not decided on his lineup as yet and will not make any decisions until he has seen the fellows in action. This action may be forthcoming tomorrow but is not definite as yet. Cleary would like to see as many fellows as possible who wish to play for the squad to come out to practices. There is a lot of soccer potentiality on the campus and there is no reason why the soccermen can't field a strong team.

Regular team practices are held at the Upper Field of Molson Stadium on Monday, Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. However, anyone interested can practice on the other weekdays at 5 p.m. as well.

Toronto Star Hart Devenny Battles Polio

One of the University of Toronto's greatest swimmers, Hart Devenny, is waging the toughest battle of his life in a Winnipeg hospital now. Stricken by the dread disease of polio in July, Devenny lies almost completely paralyzed in an iron lung.

Only 21, Toronto swimming coach Cressy McCarty rates Hart as the best swimmer ever to swim for the Blues. He was unbeaten last year in the 220 and 440 yards freestyle events in nine college meets. He won both Intercollegiate titles at the meet here in February, setting new records.

He hit 2:14.7 in the 220 and 4:58 in the 440. The medley relay team, with Devenny at anchor, also ended up winners.

He started his swim career at the age of 14 under the guidance of veteran coach A.H. "Pop" Sidwell. He trained hard and took a good share of medals at playground and winter competition.

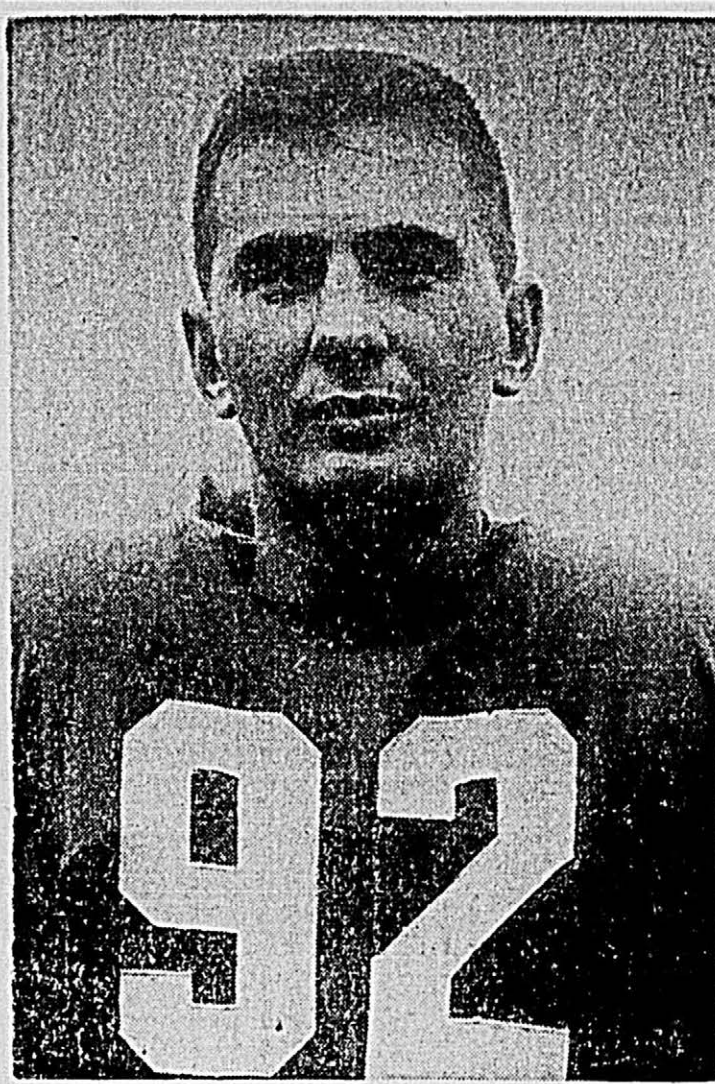

In his first two years at the University of Manitoba, he was captain of the swimming team and set two records in competition. He made a bid for Canada's Olympic team but missed by a slight margin in time trials.

When he won the two-mile swim at the CNE, the City of Winnipeg presented him with a ring as a Canadian champion. Devenny said then he had no intention of turning professional but had his eye on the 1954 British Empire Games in Vancouver.

He was one of the six invited to Yale University to train with famous Coach Bob Kippus. On his return to Canada his training carried him to the top in Manitoba championships.

A week later, on the eve of the Canadian Championships here, Devenny was stricken with polio.

Medical authorities, who have worked around his iron lung for more than two months, say he is living in hope and battling like a champion to regain his health.

ENGLISH ON THE BALL: One of the better fullbacks to show in a McGill uniform has been Herb English, who has starred in both McGill games so far this year. English transferred from Loyola, where he was Little All-America one year, and so far this season has been a tremendous favorite with the fans.

Women's Sports To Start with Flourish

By IRMA MOSCOVITZ

This year, as always, women's sports on the campus open with a flourish. Hardly are all the courses picked, the conflicts fixed up, and the registration forms, filled out, before tennis, soccer, and archery get underway.

Tennis, the first of these, is one of the more popular co-ed sports, on the campus. An intra-mural meet is planned to begin tomorrow. All girls who are interested, should sign up on the notice boards in RVC, or the Women's Locker Room, in the Currie gym, this afternoon at the very latest.

This tournament is run on an elimination basis, with the Martin trophy being awarded to the winner. From the girls competing for this trophy, four top players will be picked to represent McGill at the Intercollegiate meet, taking place at Queens, Oct. 23 and 24.

Miss Peg Walker, a graduate of the University of Toronto, and new to the McGill physical education staff, will coach the team this year.

Soccer, a game which co-eds have successfully made a women's sport, has already begun. Practices are held on the lower campus below the museum Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 4-5, and Saturday mornings, from 10-12 o'clock. As most girls will be newcomers to this sport, beginners are most welcome. All that is necessary to play are a pair of strong blue jeans, some running shoes, and energy.

The third of these fast-starting activities is archery, which also opens this first day of upperclassmen lectures. There are two sets of practices going on — those for the Intercollegiate team, and those for beginners.

For beginners, Miss Winona Wood of the Physical Education department will be on hand Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 11-1, and Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10-12 (Continued on page 4)

Aqua Meeting

All swimming team hopefuls should attend an important meeting this afternoon at 5:15 p.m. in lecture room 14 of the gym.

Those trying out for the water polo team should be at the pool at 6 p.m. Remember, freshmen are eligible.

OAC Offer Redmen Respite For Coming Queen's Clash

The McGill Redmen will show many new faces in the lineup this Saturday when they meet the Ontario Agricultural College Aggies in an exhibition game. The entry of the McMaster Marauders into the Ontario-Quebec League gives every team a week off, and the Redmen used theirs to give them an easy tilt now and a breather on Nov. 7.

Coach Vic Obeck plans to bring up many intermediates and also give some the lesser lights on the senior squad in big trial. This will serve the double purpose of giving the inters a workout before their opener the following weekend and allow him another look at some of the seniors.

He is especially pleased with this break as many of the players are suffering from minor ailments, and the rest will put them in that much better condition for the Queen's game the following week. The Gaelic served notice that they are no longer to be considered the weak sisters of the league when they trounced Toronto Balmy Beach of the ORFU 20-10 in an exhibition Saturday. Most surprising thing about this was the fact that the Beches had previously knocked over the supposedly-powerful Toronto Blues.

OAC compete in the Ontario Intermediate League, and only a few years ago regularly split titles with McMaster. They will field a strong squad, and as many of the Indians will play, the game should turn out to be more interesting than expected.

Ground attack good

The Redmen showed a strong ground attack in their opener Saturday against McMaster when they dumped the Marauders 13-12. George Klein and Herb English sparked the runs, with the flashy Klein having an average of over eight yards per carry. The pass offence and defence was slightly weak, but not as bad as the figures seem to show.

They only attempted eight passes, three completed, but undoubtedly this figure would increase if more were thrown, especially of the screen variety.

McMaster hit on 17 out of 33 tries, but most of them were screens and it is next to impossible to knock these down. The McMaster percentage, on passes

Heavy Turnout For Inter Football
With one of the largest turnouts in intermediate football history, one can hardly blame intermediate mentor Joe Anderson for being all smiles these days. Over fifty-five footballers have decided to cast their lot with the Indians, and along with the men expected from the seniors next week, Anderson's troubles are good ones — that is who to play in the first encounter against Queens.
Speaking of the Comets, this game should be a good indication of what to expect from the Indians. The Junior Gaels have won the league championship three years running, and from all reports will field a strong contender this autumn.
The league will be made up six teams this year: Carleton, Ottawa University, Queen's, R. M. M. C. Loyola and McGill.
Loyola Returns
Loyola will be returning to the conference this year after an absence of four seasons. Their experiment in American football proving unsuccessful, the Warriors have started their season with a clean slate in Canadian football, along with a new coach. He is Dave Peebles, and he boasts an impressive record in local football circles.

Anticonvulsant Action of Mysoline-5-phenyl-5-ethyl-hexahydro-2,4-dione or "The Learning System of Octopus;" but knowing that the first deals with certain aspects of respiration and blood pressure, the second with suppression of seizures, and the third with locating areas of the nervous system involved in learning to react to certain events, one may better appreciate the significance of these researches.

IMPORTANT PROBLEMS
Many papers dealt with medical problems of well known common concern: shock, hypertension, heart failure, high blood pressure, reflexes, anesthesia, epilepsy, insulin and other hormones. A new device permitting extremely accurate measurement of electrical impulses in heart action was discussed, as was a new highly advanced mechanical heart. The latter, designed by Dr. R.A. Waud of University of Western Ontario, has been used with great success in providing animals with an artificial heart while operations were performed on the regular one.

SOVIET DELEGATES
Among the delegates were ten Soviet Russian scientists, who delivered a number of papers. Asked why foreign scientists often received no answer to requests for abstracts of papers made public in the U.S.S.R., the Russians answered that this was due to the very limited number of reprints permitted them. Unlike their behaviour at the last congress, they took free part in all discussions and split up for the various tours offered as a recreational break on the third day of the congress.

An American scientist was quoted as saying that scientific methods developed in Russia had been used to convert United Nations Prisoners of war in Korea to Communism. A paper circulated at the closing meeting and signed by Dr. Best, Dr. Macintosh and others, said that the congress "deeply regrets any embarrassment that may have been caused to Soviet members of the congress" and dissociated the congress from these opinions.

Early Start Slated For Player's Club

The Players Club, a student-run organization which stages productions of all sizes and shapes throughout the year, is generally the centre of dramatics at McGill.

Starting as soon as registration is over, activities will include a major production done in "arena" style (theatre-in-the-round), several experimental workshop productions of original scripts, a play to be entered in the Inter-Varsity Drama Festival, and other types of shows.

The Players Club is the only theatrical group in Montreal which is able to do plays in both proscenium style (with the curtained stage at one end of the theatre), and in the newly revived and more flexible arena setting (which the audience surrounding the stage on all sides).

Miss Norma Springford, producer of Montreal's Mountain Playhouse Summer Theatre and one of the leading authorities on arena staging, will again direct the major production and give informal classes in the theatre arts throughout the year. This association has led to many McGill students being able to work during the summer months at the Mountain Playhouse and other summer theatres.

Everyone interested in any phase of theatrical work is invited to come to the Club's activities.

Speeches, No Hazing At Freshman Reception

By DON ALLEN

The nucleus of the McGill University Class of 1957 was last week provided by 850 new students from widely separated parts of Canada, North America and the rest of the world who, to all appearances, survived the first stage of the high school to college transition. That unique educational metamorphosis by which the high school senior is evolved into the first year University student — Freshman Reception — last week took over the campus for its annual seven-day stand at McGill.

Items on the 1953 Frosh agenda included a welcome from student leaders, an informal dance, greetings from the Principal and Deans, a coed tea, a professors' tea, a pep rally and pep dance, the Welcome Back dance and the special freshman religious service.

First year students received their frosh badges and information on forthcoming campus events at a special booth at registration. Conducted tours of the campus were available, guided by Scarlet Key and Red Wing honorary society members, elected official hosts of the student body.

As in previous years, we are short of material and track and field is a sport where there is some event for all candidates.

INTRAMURAL

For 1953-54, the intramural department is offering to all students a wider and more varied activity program.

The aim will be sports activity not for the spectator, but 100% participation in some activity for all students.

ATTENTION ALL NEW STUDENTS

If you are interested in participating in a team game or an individual type sport, please sign your name on your faculty notice board or contact your faculty representative, class representative or sport manager or contact the intramural department room 3 — gymnasium.

The welcome of student government was extended to the newcomers Monday night.

Students' Society president James Robb stressed, in his words of welcome, "opportunities available at a university and within the student community for developing yourselves for the larger world community". Pauline Mowatt, president, addressed coeds on behalf of the Women's Union.

Official greetings of the University were extended Tuesday morning as Principal James described the "larger McGill community" of 6,000 students and 25,000 graduates throughout the world.

Women students attended a tea sponsored by the Women's Union at Royal Victoria College that afternoon; heard addresses by Dr. Muriel V. Roscoe, Dean of Women, and by the Women's Union president.

A Professors' Tea was held at RVC, Thursday, with 30 staff members and an estimated 500 freshmen in attendance. The event, designed to permit frosh to meet their instructors and other professors informally, organized by Committee-member Shellagh Ryan was officially looked upon as "one of the most successful events on this year's Reception program".

A pep rally and informal dance were held Friday, and frosh were extended a special invitation to Saturday's McMaster game. A Welcome Back Dance at the Currie Gym brought frosh and upperclassmen together for the first time, Saturday night.

Rev. E. Clifford Knowles, University Chaplain and Student Guidance officer preached at the non denominational Freshman Service in Moyses Hall Sunday morning. The lesson, from Psalm 27, was read by Principal James.

Rev. Knowles laid stress on the need for the development of the spiritual as well as the physical and the intellectual concept of life. He said that at a University conflicts may arise between knowledge and faith, but that "changed ways of presenting a truth do not necessarily change the basic truth itself".

Most co-eds, both new students and those accustomed to McGill have been told many times about the value of extra-curricular activities. Most realize how important they are. All co-eds, therefore, are urged to participate in at least one of the sports already underway. The time to get interested in extra-curricular activities is now!

strength of their beliefs was emphasized. They concluded that the work of a Christian who realized the gravity of the problem was to urge consideration of these issues on their fellows. They also recommended that the Movement work "individually and as groups with Communist organizations, trying to understand their positions and their motives and to witness them in the most effective manner possible."
